

BIP Course: International Management and Economics

June 10 - June 23, 2025

Leibniz University Hannover, Faculty of Economics and Management

Workload: 5 ECTS

Focus: United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

Location: Leibniz University Hannover, Faculty of Economics and Management
Königsworther Platz 1, 30167 Hannover

Who can apply?

- Undergraduate (Bachelor) students of Erasmus+ partner universities in the field of management, Business administration, economics or similar,
- Graduate (Master) students of Erasmus+ partner universities in the field of management, Business administration, economics or similar;
- Participation is free of charge: During the physical learning week, the organisers will cover the costs of excursions, certificates of participation, study materials, coffee breaks, snacks, as well as a diverse cultural programme. Participants will also be given University Canteen Cards, providing substantial discounts.
- Participants are responsible for covering their own accommodation, transportation, and meals, though they may apply for the Erasmus grant offered by their home university. Interested students should contact to their Erasmus Coordinator or the EULiSt coordinator for more information on financing possibilities.

Application Period

The following call for applications is open until 25.04.2025. Students are required to submit all the required documents by the application deadline. Applications outside the above period will not be accepted.

Application Process:

1. To apply for the BIP Course, please submit the following documents:

- Signed application form (available on our website);
- Official academic transcript of records of your current study programme;
- Proof of English language proficiency at least B2 level (if English is not your mother tongue);
- Certificate of enrollment from one of our partner universities;
- Curriculum Vitae (CV);
- Copy of your passport;
- Motivation letter (max. 1 page).

2. Submit your application via email

Send your application form and documents as PDF files in a single email to Nino Iden at guest@wiwi.uni-hannover.de by April 25th, 2025!

3. Wait for confirmation:

By the end of April 2025, you will receive final confirmation of your participation in the BIP course, along with further instructions.

In-person sessions in Leibniz University Hannover, Germany

Dates: June 12-23, 2025

This course will introduce students to the field of International Management and Economics. Topics will include:

Part 1) Business Systems, CSR and Business Ethics:

The part provides an introduction into National Business Systems and Comparative Industrial Relations. It thus provides insights into different economic cultures and strategies to address differences between business systems.

Part 2) World Trade:

The part covers a range of topics including the drivers of economic growth, the contribution of natural resources and ecosystem services to economic growth and development, the effects of economic growth and development on the sustainable management of natural resources and the environment

Part 3) Sustainable Finance:

The course introduces students to key concepts and mechanisms in sustainable finance, focusing on the intersection of financial markets, environmental sustainability, and regulatory frameworks. It explores how financial systems can support sustainable development through responsible investment strategies and regulatory compliance.

Online session

Date: June 10th, 2025

The virtual training will take part before the physical. This will focus on some technical preparations that will facilitate the physical activities.

Funding for students

Students can apply for the Erasmus grant offered by their home university. During the physical learning week the organizers will cover excursion, certificates of participation, study materials, coffee breaks, snacks and some of the food expenses, as well as a diverse cultural programme. Accommodation and some of the food costs the students must cover themselves. No additional payments will be asked from the university's side.

Partners:

Leibniz University Hannover \(LUH\),
Jönköping University \(JU\),
University of L'Aquila \(UnivAQ\),
Karlstad University \(KU\),
Collegium Civitas \(CC\);

For inquiries and registration, contact:

International Office of Faculty of Economics and Management: Nino Iden, at:
guest@wiwi.uni-hannover.de

